Did you know?

2013 will celebrate 40 years of the Australian Saddle Pony Association. The ASPA was originally founded at the 1973 Sydney Royal Easter Show by a group of pony enthusiasts who wanted to establish an association for ponies who were ineligible for registrations in any of the other breed registries. The register would record high quality, versatile ponies, who were descendants of a variety of bloodlines and breeds. The initial classification day was at Luddenham (NSW) on 7th October 1973.
